

I trust myself, indeed, but I don't consider myself superior to others and that is my principle, which I don't look down on others, because I will make my students better than me.

